BOCA RATON PUBLIC LIBRARY – DOWNTOWN
HOSTS PAT NEASE IN “SOUTHERN FRIED HUMOR”
IN THE 2019 STORY CENTRAL SERIES, “CULTURAL CONNECTIONS”
NOVEMBER 2, 2019, 4:00–5:30PM, DOWNTOWN LIBRARY

BOCA RATON, FL (October 22, 2019) – Not only can't you take the South out of the woman, but you can't take the woman out of the South—and you wouldn't want to. In “Southern Fried Humor” at the Boca Raton Public Library on November 2 at 4:00pm, storyteller Pat Nease's huge repertoire of true experiences, folktales, ghost stories and plain old delicious downhome Florida Panhandle humor will intrigue and delight—even diehard Yankees.

Past president of the Florida Storytelling Association, Pat Nease is a four-time winner of Florida's Liars' Contests. She received the Florida Storytelling Association's Lifetime Achievement and Ambassador of Storytelling awards, as well as the National Storytelling Network's Oracle Award. In 2017, she performed at the National Storytelling Festival.

“One of the amazing things about storytelling is that when we listen, we travel the world from the comfort of our seats. The storyteller is our guide, and the journey can be nothing short of extraordinary,” notes Story Central facilitator, Caren S. Neile, Ph.D., MFA. “Plus, we don't have to worry about passports, airports or travel sickness!” A performance storyteller and author, she has taught storytelling and writing for twenty-five years in universities and community settings. She currently teaches at Florida Atlantic University.

This presentation is part of the Boca Raton Public Library's 2019 Story Central theme, “Cultural Connections.” If you're looking for a fun, unforgettable experience, register for this free presentation through the library's calendar at bocalibrary.org.
